Aging Successfully with HIV

Charles A. Emlet, PhD 1998, LCSW, ACSW
The National Institutes of Health, HIV and Aging Working Group has set the study of successful aging with HIV as a research priority. This presentation will present the results of a qualitative study with older adults, many long term survivors, who self-identified as aging well with HIV disease.

Charles Emlet is Professor of Social Work at the University of Washington, Tacoma; Adjunct Associate Professor with the University of Washington School of Social Work; and affiliate faculty with the UW Center for AIDS Research. He received his MSW from California State University, Fresno, and a Ph.D. in Social Welfare from the Mandel School.

Making Cleveland an Age-Friendly City

Mary McNamara, MSSA 2003, LISW- S
An Age-Friendly City is a place that enables people of all ages to actively participate in community activities. This presentation will discuss eight interconnected domains of urban life. The results of the Age Friendly Cleveland assessment as well as current services available to older adults and future planning will also be highlighted.

Mary McNamara is an MSSA graduate of the Mandel School with a concentration in Aging. She currently is an administrative manager with the City of Cleveland Department of Aging. Prior to this position she worked as a Program Director at Fairhill Partners, a multi-tenant campus dedicated to successful aging.

Students: Join the speakers for “Advice from Mandel School Graduates,” an informal session at 1-2 p.m. in the Mandel Center Lounge prior to the colloquia.
